Bustle Berntson Caught

OWL I EVER GET OUT OF THIS SITUATION — Bustle Berntson, flighty campus figure, was arrested this week for usurping campus funds and being too free with college money. He was photographed by STUDENT LIES just before being placed in the carpeted Logan City jail.

Ace Beacher, Scotland Yard Defective, Takes Arrest

Nabbed Red-Handed With Bulging Bustle

P.E. Officials Say He's Bustle Mound

Rumors, Bustle Taking Currency Currently

Smug Greenback Smuggler Jailed

Police today captured one of Utah's top criminals, and the arrest immediately cleared up huge fund shortages which have been reported lately at Utah State college.

Taken into custody was Bustle Berntson, executive secretary of the college and campus, "I Love Me" man. The arrest was credited to Ace L. Beacher, famous campus sleuth and former Scotland yard defective.

Logan city police chief, Eli Dracula, reported that Bustle will be held in one of the carpeted rooms of the spacious Logan city jail, pending further investigation.

Beacher, revealed to, STUDENT LIES the details of the crime, and capture, and commented, "Well, Viva Zapata!"

Lately, Beacher stated, Bustle Berntson has been noted to have a kindly attitude toward all. Students applying for loans were graciously received by the money-bags man, and no problem would be too great to prevent the loan. Fountain pens, shoelaces, and fingernail clippers were accepted as collateral for $1000 loans, by Bustle.

It was also revealed that all department budgets have been upped $100,000 by Bustle, and that all requisitions are being signed by secretaries with rubber signature-stamps.

With this spirit of cooperation and friendliness abounding in the secretary's office, few people have bothered to consult Bustle and thus he has had more time to attend to personal matters in the office, Beacher noted.

During this time, he has boldly lifted large amounts of currency from the tills, and has written out numerous college checks to himself. Employees of his office have been so enamored with his personality that they scarcely have noticed his criminal activities.

In making the arrest, Beacher, well-known campus chameleon, disguised himself as a baby, and hid in Bustle's office.

It was noted that Bustle was smuggling the loot out of his office each day by hiding it in his bustle. Bustle was soon exposed.

When his private secretary heard of the arrest, she commented to STUDENT LIES, "I thought I had noticed a little larger bustle of late, but I had suspected that it was because he was eating too many sweet rolls in the 'Bird.'"

Bustle's trial is tentatively set for September, 1492.

Hubbard Announces Bull-Headed Policy

In a reaffirmed effort to make Utah State Agricultural college an agricultural college completely, Deon the Peon Cow-College Hubbard, has adopted a bull-headed attitude.

BULL-HEADED POLICIES ESTABLISHED — Deon the Peon, studentbody president, announced new bull-headed studentbody policies this week. He, incidentally, is a candidate for re-election. He is running on the agricultural ticket.

New Burger Invented by Mr. Neuburger

An entirely different kind of sandwich, the "Newburger," has been invented on campus by assistant to the president, L. Mark Neuburger.

It is expected that the new sandwich will revolutionize the food industry. Patents are pending for the new invention. The sandwich is a combination of old-style hamburger and fig newtons. The name, "Newburger," is an original combination of the two main ingredients, the inventor commented.

A vending station for the sandwiches has been set up in the annex to the president's office. Extensive remodeling of the president's office and the board room is underway so that a serving window will be available in the main hall.

The "Newburger" stand will be operated by Neuburger himself, as a part of his assistant president duties. All supplies are being purchased by Bustle Berntson, executive secretary, and the revenue is to be divided between Neuburger and the president.

When reached by STUDENT LIES for comment on the sandwich, Neuburger said he was pickled pink at the success of the new sandwich. "Well, it looks like I can still cut the mustard," he stated.

Pouring Plot To Make Parking Fine

Concrete Proposals Walk Forbidden Paths

The administration is to be commended for the numerous projects to improve our campus walking facilities.

Cementing Relations

It has been observed in recent weeks that a new cement walk is being laid wherever students have indicated a propensity to stray from the established path. We think this a noble effort to keep the grass in good condition, but we wonder what these multiplied paths will lead to. A regular campus labyrinth may develop. STUDENT LIES feels that there is a real danger here. Already the network of paths is taking on the appearance of a campus planned around the original college cow trails. We must stop before it is too late! ! !

Rotten Rumors

STUDENT LIES has heard rumors that the whole project has been planned by Building and Grounds as an excuse to turn the quad into a parking lot. The theory is that when the quad is sufficiently cut up to make it unsightly, they will be forced to fill in the remaining grass with concrete thus making the area an ideal parking lot.

Courting Disaster

We would like to raise our voice against this plot because if it is carried out, the tennis court will be lost as well as the quad. Cars from the secretary's office would inevitably be allowed in that area, since they are in the racket of collecting fines and thus have financial control of parking regulation. The choice is between racket and racquet. Our Motto is "Keep Utah Green."

"Let's read this issue of SCRIBBLE once more before we ban it."

The Camel disinfecting tubs will be in operation all of next week. Under the present rules both camels and jockeys must go through the dip before the race. Dip fee will be three rubles for jockeys and 10 for camels.

Baby stork — "Mama, where did I come from?"

A farmer visited his son's college. Watching students in a chemistry class, he was told they were looking for a universal solvent.

"What's that?" asked the farmer. "A liquid that will dissolve anything."

"That's a great idea," agreed the farmer. "When you find it, what are you going to keep it in?"

Reporter — "What shall I say about the peroxide blondes who made such a fuss at the ball game?"

Editor — "Say, the bleachers went wild."

All members of Homes for Homeless Dauschunds are urged to attend a meeting of that organization which will be held on the top of Mount Logan at 5:00 a. m. Wednesday.

Let me know what you think about these proposals and my-

NO BONES ABOUT

HUBBARD'S CUPBOARD

BY NEON HUBBUB

Studentbody Resident

Since I first started in my present position I have been striving to think of some original ideas which would no doubtless be good for saving the college lots of money and at the same time make the burden of expenses lighter for we students who are here as well as those prospective students who are planning to come to the college if they can afford it in order to avoid the draft and get an education which everyone admits will help a person through all walks of life. This is needed.

Has Always Been

I have always been of the opinion that the best way to save money or be efficient in anything is to kill two birds with one stone—to coin a new phrase. I have observed lately the men working on the campus lawns. This is hard work. Now the biggest single lawn area is the quad. If we could reduce the amount of work needed to keep that lawn in top condition, it would save the college lots of money.

I have in mind some specific proposals which I would like to take this opportunity to pass on to you at this time.

I think they are unique inasmuch as the plan seems so workable and has such very real merits yet no one has suggested it before—the best of my knowledge.

Problem Boils

The problem boils down to about four main phases which must each be considered. First of all we have the problem of students (and even some faculty members) walking across the grass and making paths, thereby spoiling the appearance.

Then we have the problem of fertilizing the grass. It must also be kept cut and watered.

Admits.

Now I admit that spreading manure on the lawn is a subtle way of keeping people from walking across it but it is not 100 percent effective since some of us don't seem to mind anyway. What we need is a fence around each quarter of the quad. This would keep nearly everyone off the grass. Then if we make the investment of a fence we could easily keep cows there which would spread fertilizer automatically and at the same time keep the grass short. The dairy building would be near and they would have easy access to the cows.

You Can See

As you can see this one simple investment would take care of three of our four problems. It is as simple as it can be.

The only remaining question is how to water the lawns efficiently. I would suggest irrigation rather than the elaborate system of sprinkling where the water sprays in the air and most of it is lost through evaporation.

Would Necessitate

This would, of course, necessitate surveying the quad to determine if it is level enough for proper irrigation. This can be done by the engineers. In fact, I have noticed them several times since I started to school. They had men out survey-

Stewart Fired For Test Week Dishonesty

Corruption crept into the ranks of Utah State college faculty recently when Prof. John Stewart of the Journalism department was dismissed on the charges of cheating during winter quarter test week.

Professor Stewart was caught by two of his journalism students one night preceeding test week. He was crouched beneath his desk in his office, evidently guarding his final exam papers. The two students who broke into the office were unable to obtain copies of the exam, due to the unsportsmanlike conduct of Professor Stewart.

Dean Carlton Culmsee, Dean of the school of Arts and Sciences, charged Stewart with taking unfair advantage of his students and stated that the board of trustees does not condone such "under the table conduct."

"Students who are flunking courses should be given every advantage in order to pass their final exams," stated Dean Culmsee.

Steps are being taken to eliminate dishonesty at Utah State college. All offices will be left unlocked for the week preceeding spring quarter test week and all faculty members will be expected to conform to the standards set by the students of the college in the future.

Queen Benedicks, enjoying his last days as head librarian at Utah State, is seen feverishly trying to work his way into a new position. He will be shelved soon. "I'll probably lose everything," he says.

Queen Benedicks, Library's Top Shelf, Replaced by Over-Duer

Queen Benedicks, Utah State's biggest novel and library maggot, is about to be shelved, it was learned today.

"It's getting so a student has to know what their major is to find a book," said those planning his rebinding.

It seems that queen Benedicks has scattered libraries all over the campus, until even the card index files are frustrated and refuse to stay in alphabetical order. "One library isn't enough," said the bookee. "We need them in every building so students will get to know all of our librarians. They're very nice people."

Benedicks feels that our athletes especially have been neglected. "I'll go where you want me to go," said the Queen, "but I have one last project."

He wants to put shelves along the shallow end of the swimming pool for the waders and have projector-flashed adventure stories on the ceiling for students who like to float on their backs.

One thing still bothers him, however. That is, educating the belly floppers.

"It's the least we can do after they've learned to read and everything," he said.

Several students are being considered to take over the librarian's job. The job will be offered to the student with the most overdue, unpaid fines, according to President Madsen. "Inasmuch as he will then own the library, we hope he will let us use it," said the President.

Top contender for the job preferred to remain anonymous. "If my friends find out I've started to pay my bills, my life won't be my own," he pleaded.

He stated in an interview that Queen Benedicks would not be abdicated for just throwing papers around if he had anything to do with it. "He wants to dust shelves in the Home Ec library and I'll fight to see he gets to do it," said the over-duer.

As to future plans for the Main library, the over-duer said he plans to raise the ceiling to eliminate the glare of the bright lights and lower the windows so students can look out and relieve mental strain.

"I'll also have rear-view mirrors put on the ends of the tables so students with their backs to the door can see when she enters," he said.

Campus Chest Cheats Armless

It has been discovered by Student Lies that the money collected last fall in the Campus Chest drive has been replaced by IOU's.

The money was loaned to the Brigham Young University and spent on funny books, movies, dates, candy, groceries and other ridiculous things.

Any poor student has had access to the money at any time—if he knew the right people. It was left available for public use near a sign reading, "Please write an IOU for any money taken." As a result, the check chest is now full of pink, white, yellow and blue IOU's.

When the discovery was made, the Campus Chest organization determined to refund all contributions, so as to comfort students who had arms twisted off during the collection campaign.

Money will be returned today at the third golf hole, Ogden golf course, at 8 p.m.

FLASH—Word was just received that the CC has only 50 cents left, so you'd better hurry. If you arrive after they the money is gone, you will receive an IOU.

Student Life, Utah State's best weekly newspaper, one of its best dailies, and its worst monthly today received glad tidings from the Assassinated Colgate Press.

"You hereby receive our $9.99 one hundredths percent pure, red-blooded American award for outstanding Life saving during fall and winter quarters, and for all issues to come," said the lead-plated certificate.

Upon receiving the news, the editor said: "The ACP gives honest, fair and constructive ratings to the college newspapers," or something similar.

Legal laws prevent the Life from using the editor's exact language.

The rider with the glad tidings had barely left when another rode in with an offer for Jim Mortimer to be Editor-in-Chief of the Daily Worker. Jim refused with these memorable words:

"You can beg you can coax, you can call me a Com!"

But I'm staying right with my Life and my Mom." Besides, he added: "We have a cause, too."

"What cause?" asked this reporter.

"Just cause," answered the editor with a chuckle. Don't you believe in Santa Cause?"

The staff of Lifers celebrated their success by inviting Carl, Ton of Culmsee, and John, last of the Stewed-arts, in for tea. Punch was served and each staffer received a sharpened pencil with the inscribed words: "Aspire, Aspire, but don't retire. Above is bliss. Below is Fire."

"How is it that you can kiss so divinely?"

"I used to blow the bugle in the Boy Scouts."

Two Great Academy Award Winning Pictures

Shirts Ahoy! A revitalized Aggie marching band has been perfected by Jon Fillup Dollbee, Uggie improsario (I can't spell it). The band is planning to wade through the new campus which is going on the rocks.

Fillup Dolls To Be Dressed Rubber Bands

Jon Fillup Dollbee, Utah State's own Jon Fillup Sueca, protector of the newly-revitalized Uggie Marking Band, was born with a march in his head (no doubt caused by the beating of his ear drums.)

At the age of six months he tipped the scales at two and one-half octaves. He even learned to crawl in 4/4 time.

Not being a shy child, Jon soon organized a pint-sized rhythm band.

From the nursery age he formulated his famous Rubber Band Brigade. The only requirement was: members had to have perfect "pitch." It's amazing how this brigade seemed to "strike" people in various ways.

Not too many years later, Dollbee organized the Bottle Quartet. However, one night Petrillo, head of the local musician's union, discovered that Dollbee wasn't filling his bottles with water, and prohibition being what it was, he was offered a scholarship with free board and room to Sing Sing, the "noted" musical school in New York.

The young maestro did very well at school. Two of his more famous compositions are: "If I'd Known I Was Coming I'd Have Baked a Cake with a File in It," and "If I Had a Trampoline I'd Bounce Over the Wall Like a Rubber Ball."

After completing his education, Dollbee worked for various top-notch band leaders, such as Spiked Tones and His Little Chas-

'Legs' Monroe (Not Larry) Gets Play Lead

Prof. Floyd Morgan, director of the play "Much to Do About Nothing", announced that Marilyn Monroe will play the leading role. A communication was received from Hollywood today to the effect that Miss Monroe would be happy to come to Utah State where she knew her talents would be appreciated.

The change of cast became necessary when the leading lady in the play eloped with the make-up artist because "he is the only one who knows me as I really am."

"It was felt," said Professor Morgan, "that we should choose someone shy and very cultured to give the proper feeling to the plot. We feel that Miss Monroe is the perfect choice."

The drama department was also successful in gaining the services

ers, and that London artist, Fair's Thames and his male orchestra.

Finally, Jon became a band leader in his own right. On his opening night he became quite flustered when he announced the program and it came out:

"The Traveller" met "Santa Cecilia" in a "Royal Gorge" reading the "Washington Post." He said "Eroika!" "You Belong to Me." She replied my "Stars and Stripes Forever!" "El Capitan" is my "Troubador" so he went to "A Persian Market" and said "How Much Is That Dog In the Window?" A dog will be truer than "A Dainty Damozel."

And that is the history of Jon Fillup Dollbee, and no more.

Every year college deans pop the routine question to their undergraduates: "Why did you come to college?" Traditionally the answers match the question in triteness. But one co-ed unexpectedly confided:

"I came to be went with — but I ain't yet!"

of Jerry Lewis, who will play the part of the leading man. "We also felt this was a very good choice because Mr. Lewis is so handsome and through his facial features is able to express the most subtle emotion," Professor Morgan said.

Lie-seums Will Belie Our Life's Highlights

Culture and education for the Cow College are the themes of the lyceums scheduled for the coming year, according to Herbarium (Green Plants) Holmgren, stool pigeon for the cultured students, and Radio (Fill-em Fulla) Bullen, local civic slave.

First program of the season will feature a lecture entitled "Knights' Art in Gay Pariee" by Dr. Thelma Frenchy Fogelberg. Demonstrative films and slides of the Latin quarter will be shown.

William "Bobsy" Hull and Company, who will be on a nation-wide tour next year, will present a program entitled "Broadway-Learned Shakes." The big blonde Aggie deramboast stated that this program will be presented for charity.

The largest crowd of the year is expected when Commander Waves Welti will lecture about the return of Lake Bonneville, and how Cache Valley people should plan for their naval defense now. He will use a bath tub and model ships to illustrate the lecture.

A musical lyceum will be transported from the Point of the Mountain. Arrangements have not been completed for the concert as yet. It is rumored that Eel Nekcarb will be the featured soloist. He probably will sing "Why Oh Why Did I Ever Leave Wyoming," and "Aggies, I Love Thee."

Due to the high caliber of the programs already engaged, it is felt that Aggie students couldn't digest more, so the rest of the funds will be given to STUDENT LIES, for a staff party, no doubtless.

Flunnigan Flock Councils Council

Student council this week received a letter from Ruff Flunnigan, director of a small band back east, in which Mr. Flunnigan complained that members of the Aggie studentbody hadn't supported his band when he was on the campus.

"Only about fifty student bodies showed up for the dance," he said.

The letter was surprising to the council, since they had never heard of Ruff Flunnigan and had not been aware that he had been on the campus.

Council members were able to interview one of the few couples that had been at the dance and learned that the orchestra had played a number called "cold whiskey" all evening. The number was such a slow waltz that the students nearly went to sleep on their feet while dancing to it.

The same student complained that Flunnigan's flunkies lacked pep, and said that they would rather dance to the beautiful, inspiring music of Jodie Noble any day.

Student council then phrased an answer to Flunnigan's letter. The letter said in effect that if he would improve his arrangements so that they would be acceptable to the Aggie students, he and his band would be allowed to play for another dance on the floor of the cowbarns any time he wished.

This letter also stated perhaps he would have a better crowd if he offered a small sum to all couples who attended the dance.

So far, the council has not received an answer from Mr. Flunnigan.

Courtship, Marriage Classes On Skids

A new professor of courtship and marriage has been selected, and will take over duties in the department immediately, it was announced today.

The new professor, pictured below, is single, unmarried, and unattached to a spouse. She is pictured below in a typical classroom pose.

Although registration for the course has dropped off considerably since the new professor took over, it is planned that lab work in the canyon may boost the waning enrollment.

At any rate, the professor is promising an interesting, individualized course.

See-Sick Supervisor Says Sidewalks Smooth Sailing

Because Buildings and Grounds has used all their cement in the new campus sidewalks, the decision has been reached to make all campus roadways waterways.

Because there is never any wind on campus, the seaways will always be smooth, and never give trouble to gondoliers, stated Herald Wadswale, soupy of buildings and grounds.

To accommodate the number of boats which are anticipated on campus, the quad has been turned into a sea. It is rumored that a Navy ROTC unit will replace the current military department, who found it necessary to cancel all drill because of the unavailability of the quad.

Boats, at a price and a half, will go on sale Friday in the used book store. Profits will go to the main bookstore, who will provide all pitch to patch the boats.

Special provisions are being made for students or faculty desiring to drive submarines. This is encouraged, since most college activities are underwater.

Advocate of the plan was Ray Watters, aqua pura of the campus.

The college sheep barn will be the scene of the Fall formal slated this Spring. This largest sorority on campus is planning to drop a few of the less interested members in an effort to trim their membership rolls to a decent size.

The Road to Surfdom—College on the Rocks

Main Condemned As Unseaworthy—Ark Will Replace Barns

Since the legislature announced its decision to allow new campus sites for both Dixie and Weber colleges, special lobbying has been going on to get a similar change in the Aggie campus, more in keeping with the present status of the college. The announcement is now made that the site will be changed. The college is going on the rocks. This is illustrated by the accompanying photograph.

Everyone has recognized the need for such a change and the action by the legislature merely makes official the known position of the college.

Announcement has been made that the present buildings and grounds will be sold and the proceeds will be used to increase the salaries of the faculty as long as the funds hold out. This solves a real problem. The low salaries were an important factor in the legislature's decision to put the college on the rocks. The faculty will no longer be serfs, but surfs.

This move represents the high tide of progress at Utah State. Preparations are now under way for the move. The Extension Station is now carrying out experiments in sea weed control. The library is ordering additional copies of "The Sea Around Us."

Classes in marine life will be conducted by the Zoology Department. All Aggies are urged to familiarize themselves with the new nautical environment.

In an effort to make his new bull-headed policies stick, Hubbard made the startling announcement at council meeting Tuesday night that he plans to seek another term as studentbody president.

As the stupendous announcement drooled from the lips of the president, Filly Sorenson gasped as if he had swallowed a rubber ball, and immediately rushed for the phone booth to notify the brethren of the news.

In honor of Deon the Peon, who is certain to be re-elected, the council serenaded him during the memorable meeting with strains of "How Much Is That Bull-Dog in the Window."

Campaign manager for the president's second term will be John Bull.

Main Burns, Union Levelled By A-Bomb

More than ten thousand sports fans cheered wildly last night as the old Main building burned down on the Aggie campus. The cheering people were gathered in the field house watching the spectacle on television.

Officials were overheard to say that the only real loss suffered was the apple machine that stood in the hall. Even the money in the secretary's office was valueless.

The fans had an 'extra' treat when they saw Ray Waters perform on TV. Waters did a sensational act by jumping out of a 31 story building. He survived the jump due to the fact that he jumped out of the first story.

There were rumors to the effect that the Main building fire was caused by smoking in the Union building.

The excitement was so great in the mighty crowd of people that several of them were trampled.
One small boy that survived the ordeal stated that there were times when he felt that he couldn't breathe. It was discovered later that there was no air in the building at the time and also that the boy didn't have any lungs.

One lady became so excited during the event that she committed suicide by exploding an pocket. Bystanders said that she

Allred Makes Big Scene As 'Masher'

Utah State's own Ivan Allred, reserve center on the Aggie basketball squad, was notified that he was placed on the All-Masher team of the chorus line at Leon and Eddies night club in New York City.

Teammates report that Allred employed his long reach to carry out an intensified plan to drag each one of the girls over to the Aggie tables the night following the team's victory in the Holiday tourney.

Lanky Bill Hull, the all-conference center with the voice most like Andy Devine's, is supposed to have warded off much embarrassment upon the team's part by taking part in the "OOPSEY-DOOPSEY" to distract Allred's frenzied and super mashing attempts.

In the morning, following the break-in, Dean Cullmsee found red footprints across the window sill, the wall, and his desk. The footprints were similar to those of a dog. A note in red ink was also left on the desk. It was signed, "The Red Foot."

Two stale hot dogs covered with catsup and pickle relish were found on the desk, leading the police officers to believe at first that the burglar was a publicity agent for Sawyer's.

O'Roning revealed at a recent meeting of the Swedish Homeland society that his original plans had Christine Jorgenson as the proselyting attraction. However, Jorgenson changed her mind after Ralph Maughn hit her with a shotgun.

O'Roning stated that Jorgenson has accepted an offer to be cheerleader at BYU. Further information from the president's office to the effect that the president has also accepted a similar offer.

The new hot mama will begin her duties as soon as O'Roning can get rid of some of the other dead timber in his department. He also stated that he hadn't been feeling at all well. He said that every time it rained he felt badly. Dean C. Cullmsee stated that O'Roning was suffering after having bought 100 pounds of ground hog meat and eating it. He later discovered that it wasn't ground hog meat at all that he had gotten on sale, but ground-hog meat.

Stoll Takes College Bums To Lovely Land of Sky Blue Sewage

BY I. DIDIT

Wouldn't it come as a surprise to you to learn that Cal (wear your pants high) Stoll has been offered the head football coaching job at the University of Minnesota, his alma mater. And Mr. Stoll has accepted the position, according to Ike Armstrong, Athletic Director at Minnesota.

And wouldn't it knock you off your chair to learn that the guy with the corny jokes is actually going to risk his neck and get out from under John Roning's wing to take the job.

Well, the big cluck is going to do it; at least, that's what he says after failing to produce anything worth talking about in two years at Utah State.

Mr. Cal Stoll will replace Wes Fesler. Fesler went to Minnesota after Bernie Bierman who was requested to leave two years ago. Fesler took over the same time that John Roning came to Utah State.

It has been rumored around that the reason for Fesler's leaving the Minnesota school was pressure from the alumni. The new Minnesota Coach implied that the reason for the dismissal of Fesler was the type of football Minnesota has been playing during the past two years.

Word from the Minnesota Alumni was that the alumni group didn't like "basketball on the football field," Fesler type of football.

Cal Stoll, arrived back to his home in Logan Tuesday, and he gave the first hand information to this reporter. He plans to leave Logan in the next few days to locate a home in Minneapolis. Stoll figures it will be any where from two to four weeks before his family leaves Logan.

Cal will take some of the best talent from the local area back to Minnesota for his assistants. At the present time he has submitted some prominent football scholars to the Board of Trustees at Minnesota.

Before the new Minnesota mentor left Minneapolis Sunday the Board had approved nine new assistants and staff men that will help make the new athletic machine at the University of Minnesota.

Heading the list of new assistants on Stoll's new staff will be Rod (Nick the Greek) Jensen. Jensen will assume the duties of backfield coach. In the spring he will take care of the baseball team.

"I am very glad that Cal has asked me to be on his staff at Minnesota, and I think that it will be a very good opportunity for me to get out and show some of my football coaching ability," stated Rod.

Mr. Jensen is a teacher of the Double "Q" formation, this is where there are two quarterbacks. "It is one of the best formations for deception there is, but at Minnesota, we will probably use a lot of the Minnesota Single-Wing and maybe some split-T," Mr. Jensen predicted.

Gentleman John J. Mooney will take over the line coaching duties. At the present time he is the Sports Editor of a local state paper. Mr. Mooney graduated from the University of Iowa where he was a all-conference lineman back in the early thirties.

When Student Lies tried to contact Mooney, Tuesday, they were unable to do so, he is on the west coast covering the Rex Layne fight that is scheduled for this evening. It will be a few days before Gentleman John can be contacted in Salt Lake City.

One prominent Salt Lake sport writer, who is also in San Francisco covering the Layne-Charles go, has not been contacted as yet. This man is Hack Miller. Both Miller and Mooney should return to Salt Lake before the end of the week. It is anticipated that these two men will leave for Minnesota within the next couple of weeks. Mr. Stoll has been the only individual to speak with these two men since they were named, and then both accepted.

Mr. Stoll stated that there is a great possibility that Mr. John Roning will go back to his alma mater, Minnesota. Mr. Roning will take over the duties of Student Manager. The new coach implied that the only reason for him to take Roning to Minnesota, is for his handball ability.

Ralph Maughan, will also travel to Minnesota with the new Minnesota coach. He will take over the reigns as the Minnesota Hockey coach. During the spring term he will handle the weight men on the track squad.

Just before press time today, the Minnesota trustees approved the appointment of Clair (Deals) Peterson as the Minnesota Director of Athletic Publicity. The Trustees also approved the appointments of two assistants, they may be whoever "Deals" wants to take to Minnesota with him, or anybody he appoints. Peterson plans to appoint R. H. "Horace" Peck and the present publicity man at Minnesota.

The two other appointments that Mr. Stoll made was J. Andy (Crome-Dome) Hays and Jim Cole. The duties of Cole will be in charge of the Womens Dormitory. This new position will be to see that no football player is permitted to spend too much time at the dorm.

Mr. Hays will assume the duties as Good-will man and Liaison Officer in the fraternities at Minnesota school and he will help with the Minnesota Publicity within the athletic department.

The only other appointment that was approved was the Athletic Equipment Manager, H. B. Hy Hunsaker. Final word is being awaited by Cal Stoll, for the wrestling coach, and the athletic trainer.

During the summer months when the work can be handled by his new assistants, Stoll will make a nation wide tour with Leo Nomellini. These two will form a pro wrestling tag-team and will wrestle any comers across the country. Both Leo and Cal played football at Minnesota in 1949. Leo is making a name for himself on the west coast wrestling circles.

The salary terms that Stoll signed were not disclosed, but it was thought it was near 15 thousand dollars, this is about $13,700.92 more than he has been receiving at Utah State.

'Doc' Nelson Will Vie for Mat Title Billed As 'Bear River Bad Boy'

The wrestling promoters of the western circuits were elated today upon the announcement that noted former champs, Irvan James Church and George "Doc" Nelson, plan to return to the mat wars as a tag team under the title Bear River Bad Boys. Both grapplers are former champions until now retired.

Nelson won his fame as the middle-weight champion of the Federated Malay provinces while a traveling man before settling down as the trainer here at the school with the new Union Building by the cow barns.

Church left the ring as the undefeated champion of the Thursday Air Force drill period where, due to his superior rank, all comers had to throw the match or do push ups to get their I-D deferment renewed.

The talented tag team will go into training early next week at the Refuge Club near Preston, Idaho, where Una Vermillion, noted cafeteria directress, will serve as cook, sparring partner and towel boy.

"The Bear River Bad Boys will swing into the warm-up matches of their souped-up three week tour against local heroes Carlton Culmsee and Sawyer's Grill own Beulah Huntsman. This mixed team, Huntsman and Culmsee, is undefeated in this area.

Cochese Rites To Be Held At Malibou

Members of the athletic department staff are still in mourning today following the death of Everett "Cochese" Faunce.

The Aggie baseball and ski mentor, was shot by an arrow from the bow of Piute Princess Lois Downs who had returned from the reservation to instruct an archery class in the field-house.

"Faunce never had a chance" an eye-witness stated, "he was reading a book on How to Coach Winning Baseball by Pete Couch and walked right into Princess Downs' line of fire."

No foul play was involved according to retired professor H. B. Hunsaker who has recently acquired the position of SAI department head. (ed. note: SAI stands for Special Aggie Investigator in charge of bow and arrow killings and forced parking ticket payment receipts.

Sister Agatha Makes Hit With Louie -- Wins Cup

Utah State's hot and cold board of trustees split a weekend series of croquet with St. Mary's of Wasatch last Friday and Saturday within the Temple Square walls. The trustees were sparked by the brilliant play of Arthur W. Wooley, who made poison consistently throughout the series.

One of the deciding factors in the outcome of the Salt Lake City dawn classic occurred in the third game of the afternoon on Saturday. Wooley just make poison and an enraged St. Mary's player, Sister Agatha, clouted him behind the ear with her mallet.

The blow didn't phase Wooley's skull in the least but it broke the mallet of St. Mary's star player and this gave the Aggie board heads time to get rallied and tie up the series.

This croquet series was to decide the state championship and since there was a tie, there will be a playoff this coming weekend to be held in the back yard of the Malibou lodge.

A highlight of the series was when President Louis L. Madsen presented Sister Agatha of St. Mary's with a loving cup for her outstanding play in the third game on Saturday afternoon. He also presented her with a spring steel mallet that was guaranteed to withstand ten thousand pounds tensile shock. This, he explained, was for use in the playoffs to be held this weekend.

Level-headed Coach Gaston Mark Hensley commented briefly on the board's chances this week. He said that if George Preston can refrain from using profanity the team's chances will be increased quite a bit. (ed. note) Preston insisted on saying "Oh Spit" and "I'm so mad I could crush a grape" throughout the contest.

Hensley also stated that there might not be any hand-to-hand combat in the play-offs due to the fact that Commissioner Leach said that Wooley will probably only be eligible for University of Utah's team.

Music Department Goes to Pahtz

Einstein, Truman Appointed Chief Assistants

Members of the music department are singing a different note, one a little less off-key, following the startling news that Profs. Walter Welti and N. W. Christiansen resigned their positions following the criticism of the opera by Student Lies critic, Margaret Feelsdead.

"The Music department has gone to Pahtz" was the immediate announcement issued by the USAC Board of Music Trustees, which includes J. Spencer Cornwall, Eugene Jejesnik, and Spade Cooley.

He Appoints

Mr. Pahtz, upon hearing the tidings, appointed as his two assistants two of the greatest musicians of our times, Pianist Hairy Truemann and Albert Einstein, violin virtuoso.

Soprano Tallulah Bankhead was appointed head of the vocal music department.

Dead-Eye Hairy, who was contacted while aboard the fishing boat en route to Hawaii, remarked that he was pleased to accept the new position, which assures him an income of $800, enough to pay for Margaret's music lessons next year.

It was Mr. Truemann's belief that he will be happy to work at the college if Margaret Feelsdead will give his daughter favorable reviews. Mr. Truemann is enrolling for a course in letters, writing from Moyle Q. Rice in his spare time.

Taxing His Brain

Einstein promised to come to the Aggie campus on the condition that Prof. Vance Tingey figure his income tax for him each year.

While in Logan, the Truemanns will live in an apartment in back of the Cactus club, where Bess will be head cook and barmaid. Mr. Pahtz said that other appointments will be made in the near future.

Prof. Welti left last night for New York to accept an offer to sing the lead in South Pacific opposite Ezio Pinzo.

Dr. Christiansen is heading for South Africa where he will be employed as a tuner for the war drums of the African natives.

It has gone on for years and it will probably go on for many more years and you'll still be an April Fool!

Professors Discover Wherefore Art Romeo

Members of the faculty announced this week that all copies of Shakespeare's play "Romeo and Juliet" will be banned from the campus. The faculty feels that "inferences in certain passages are detrimental to the wholesome development of students".

This action was taken after it was learned that campus "wolves" were using their extensive knowledge of the play to impress their freshman girl friends.

English professors and football coaches started the crusade against the play when it was discovered that football players were skipping practice to attend the lectures on the play in order to pick up a few pointers from Romeo. Apparently every self-respecting male on the campus has taken the class.

The need for action was even more strongly emphasized when it was rumored that the author, Billy Shakespeare, a rather obscure poet now residing in Flatbush, was under "questionable influence" when the play was written.

It was felt that certain passages of the play gave students an incorrect understanding of life. For instance the passage "Romeo, Romeo, wherefore art thou Romeo?" implies that a girl has a right to know where her boyfriend is. Of course this is obviously a false idea and presents the situation in an improper light.

Well as one of the "campus casanova's" so aptly put it, "It's a shame to take such 'culture' away from the campus and parting from such a valuable guide is certainly sweet sorrow".

City Cops Cover C. Colsmie's Catsup Calamity

Logan City Police officers this week completed their investigation of an alleged burglary of the office of Dean Clarion Colsmie of the School of Artistic Sciences.

The burglary occurred during the week of March 9 to 13, winter quarter test week, when the culprit climbed into the office through an unlocked window on the south side of the wing in
